Eat. Cook. Write

Be A Sponsor!

Started in September of 2009, we're a student-run food blog and magazine at the University of Michigan that explores Ann Arbor's booming food culture. We've fostered a student community of food lovers and writers and with 64 members and 25 active writers, we provide a wide spectrum of ideas for our quickly growing following. We inspire healthy and local eating and we strive to provide students with the necessary tools to cook, eat, and live a healthy lifestyle in the Ann Arbor community.
